Hello Anuj,

I would like you take this at the HR level we don't have any Business case to approve this exception request.

We had already provided the extended support by granting the long leave to the employee.

Cheers,
Venky

Hi Venkatesh,

We should also take into account the number of times management has rejected my BTO exception requests, even though these were approved by the medical team.

Additionally, I was on LWP for 4 months and have already applied for 2 months of paid leaves this year.

My situation has been consistent and genuine, yet it appears management has not fully acknowledged the severity of my condition

If management is approving exceptions for some individuals but not for me, this raises concerns about fair and consistent policy implementation.

Regards
Shubham Chaturvedi

Hello Subham,

BTO compliance is mandatory for all the employees expecting you to follow the organization policy.

Anuj,

We have seen consecutive non-compliance from Shubham. Kindly look into this from HR perspective.

Cheers,
Venky

Hi Shubham,
You had joined back on 17th Nov. , so it is mandatory to maintain 60% attendance for remaining working days.
